PERSONAL NARRATIVE

Tips for Writing with Voice

- The voice of a writer is what gives writing personality. Voice allows the audience to hear the person behind the words.

- Say the story as you write it. This helps it to sound like it came directly from you.

- Picture the person or persons you're telling the story to as you write your draft.

- Tell your reader how you feel about what happened in your narrative.

- Did you include enough details to make it "real?"
